“ You were my grandpa, but really my dad. You took me in and raised me as your own with my grandma. You both showed me more love than I had ever known when I was a kid. We use to sit for hours, day and night, and play video games together. You Taught me how to play guitar and taught me how to love people. You taught me to respect and to treat people the way I wanted to be treated. You were always by my side and took care of me when I couldn't take care of myself. No matter what kind of trouble I was in, you always had my back. I miss you more and more as the days go by, I don't know how I am going to make it through this thing called life. I never thought I would see this day, didn't even like to think of this day. I know you are resting with no suffering now, but what I wouldn't do is just to sit and spend one more hour with you. I'm thankful to have you as my grandpa/dad but without you, in this life, I'm lost. I have cried and cried and cried and I will keep crying cause I will never get over this moment in my life. People say it will get easier, but I don't think it ever will. I love you dad and miss you dearly, I will never let your presence be forgotten. I will always lite a candle for you on your birthday and holidays. I love you more than life itself. I love you I miss you and forever will...

“ Virginia, Mollie, and Family,

I will never forget the first time I met Jerry, it was here at our apartments at night, I was still in the upstairs apartment and had come out on the porch, Jerry was sitting outside, things were a little crazy that night, but Jerry was so calm and nice. Every time I talked to him, when, we ended our conversations, he would always say, " it's been really nice talking to you." Virginia and Jerry have been wonderful neighbors and he will be greatly missed around here.

Always,
Marilyn

“Daddy, I love and miss you so very much and so far in my life, this is the hardest thing that I have ever had to do. I have cried so much that I feel like I have no more tears, yet they seem to still come out. I find myself not sleeping much at all these last few days and all I can seem to remember is how you were always there to protect me even when I let you down. You taught us all how to swim, how to love, and most of all how to respect ourselves and others. I often think of the first time after I received the holy ghost, and you were right beside me and how just like you told me it was the best feeling ever. I know that you are now in heaven with Jesus and now you can feel like that every minute of every day. I know you are looking down on us dad and I make you this promise from this day forward I will only make you proud of me and the decisions I make. Me, Charlie, and the kids will miss you forever you are in our hearts always. I pray that the good Lord helps all of us make it through these next few days. We love you, daddy. They say that every girl looks for a husband that reminds them of their father and I think they are right because I couldn't ask for a more loving, caring, responsible man than the one I have who loves me for me just like you dad. The last time we spoke at my house you said you were so tired and proud of me and that's all I ever wanted to hear.

“ I have been struggling all day to write this message to you, it just still doesn't seem real. Everytime I walk into your apartment I expect to see you sitting there on the couch and hear you tell me you love me and then get up and hug me. That's what I am gonna miss the most. If i knew that the last time i hugged you would have been the last time, I would have held you tighter and longer. You are the best man I have ever known and no one can ever change that. You have so many family and friends that love you and will never forget you. Mom all 5 of us kids your 18 grandkids and 22 great grandkids will never forget you. You have a couple of great grandkids that will never get the pleasure of knowing how great you really were but we will make sure they know that you were awesome. I have so many memories of you that I can't even describe. I appreciate every single thing you have done with mom to raise me the correct way. I hope you are proud of the woman I have become and always will be till the day we meet again. You know that mom will be took care of as long as I'm alive. I hated to let you go so soon but I know you were tired and ready so we respected your wishes. I am also glad we all got to be with you in the process so you didn't go alone. I do still have the tape of you and mom signing from 19 years ago and i will keep it forever just so I can at least hear your voice. I know these next couple of days are gonna be just as hard as Wednesday was but we will make it through together as a family. I know you are in heaven rejoicing watching over all of us with the heavenly father. Please keep our family safe and strong for each other including mom. You left us to soon but I know God need another angel and even though it hurts I'm glad he choose you. I love you Daddy more than you will know. I am just gonna have to take it day by day! I will always remember you for the rest me life and make sure your great -grandskids do also even the ones that are on the way. Rest In Peace and enjoy your angel wings with no more pain and suffering. One day we will meet again I promise and can't wait to hug and hold you again without letting you go! Kiss everyone we have lost for me and tell them we will see them when its our time!! Te amo papi!
