“ I am tremendously sorry and heartbroken for you and your family. Abby is such an amazing and beautiful little girl. You were so blessed and to have that taken away is so hard. I cannot begin to understand but I want to be here for you. To cry to, chat with, or whatever you need. I hope the pain is a little less with each day and a smile is a little brighter and bigger in place. You will be in my thoughts and prayers.

“ Serena,
I have been blessed to know you throughout this pregnancy and share all the wonders, discomforts, and miracles that pregnancy brings. And then I was blessed to be a part of her birth. You were one of the first in our group to give birth, and your little Abby was all I could think about for days after her birth, it was so exciting. And then I was blessed to hear multitudes of details about her life over the past 10 weeks. You and she have become part of a family of July Mommies (although I, like you, became a June Mommy). Abby is beautiful. You are a wonderful Mommy. No mother should ever have to endure what you are going through right now. I have shed tears upon tears ever since hearing the news of her passing. My heart is aching. I cannot hold my own little baby girl without thinking of you and Abby, and feeling pangs of despair and anguish. We are all here to support you Serena. We have travelled this far together, and we will continue to be here for you always. And we will honor Abby in our hearts forever.

“ While I know there are no words to help you feel better, please know that I am forever blessed to have known Abby for the short time she was with us, and my life is better because of it. She was taken away far too soon, but she touched many with her beautiful face and she will never be forgotten.

Stay as strong as you're able, and know that if you ever need someone to talk to, there are tons of ladies who are always there with an open ear and an open heart.

Sending you love and prayers,

Hope(fellow July Mommy)
