

Dale Evans Ketchum

March 24, 1960 - September 5, 2025

Dale Evans Ketchum, age 65, of North Tazewell, Virginia, drew her last breath here on earth on Friday, September 5, 2025, in a Salem, Virginia, hospital following an extended illness.

Dale was born on March 24, 1960, in Tazewell County and was the daughter of Eugene Matney and the late Nannie Mae Chambers Flannigan. She had attended Tazewell High School, and after marrying her husband, John, they worked and traveled with a circus. She later worked in the health care industry, but had dedicated most of her life to caring for her family. Dale was known for her heart of gold; she had a caring, loving spirit, and was the world's best wife, sister, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, and friend. She was an avid collector of dream catchers. Her greatest joy was being with her family, cooking for them, and making her amazing cornbread. She always cooked as if she were feeding an army just in case someone dropped by to eat. Dale's two favorite sayings were, "Love all y'all working farmers", and "not goodbye, but I'll see you later".

In addition to her mother, she was preceded in death by her son, Indian Ezra "Boo" Ketchum, sisters, Dorothy Swim, Nancy Horn, Shirley Horn, brothers, Wayne Flannigan, and Harrison Flannigan, and one great-grandson, Karlston Kowalkowski.

Those that remain to continue her loving spirit are her,
