“ Dave was the second longest running friend that I've ever had. We met while working at Island Creek Coal Company Central Warehouse in 1977. During a fishing trip at South Holston lake, we became friends and remained so until this. Dave and I supported each other as we each went through some of life's tough lessons. He was always there when I needed a friend and I tried to be for him. He also watched out for me whenever we were out and about and I'm sure he kept me from getting hurt on more than one occasion. If I could say one last thing to him, it would be that I appreciate his friendship and that the memories that have built up over the years will last as long as I do. We would always go to McDonald's on the lower end of town whenever I came to Richlands to get a cup of coffee and sit and catch up. We alternated buying and it was my turn the next time we met. I guess that will have to wait a while Dave but I'll be there! I owe you one buddy! Rest easy my friend, I'll miss you!
