“ "when the going gets tough, the tough go fishing"

Well Eric, i hope you're with your dad and your grandpa going fishing up there, catching the biggest damn fish you ever laid eyes on. The world is a more beautiful place having had you in it these last 25 years, after today i know that for fact. You touched the lives of so many people and every single one of them loved you dearly. You brightened up every room you walked into with your constant positivity. You taught me to make the best of every situation and to keep pushing no matter how dark the skies may get. You never let your situation bring you down and you kept pushing. I will be forever grateful to the women who kept us in eachothers lives even though there were so many opportunities to pull apart. I will be forever grateful for you, and i will always be so proud that of all the men in the world you were the one i got to call my brother. I love you so much. Fly high angel, we'll meet again someday

“ Eric,
Little brother I remember the day you were born. That is the day I became a big sister. I remember how I got to go to the hospital. Your nurse came out and gave me a t-shirt that said big sister, as well as a teddy bear that said big sister. I was so excited for my new title, and so excited to meet you. I know things were not always easy. I am truly grateful to call you my little brother, and for all the memories I have of you. Rest in peace little brother.

Love,
Ashley
