“ Tim,

You will never know how much I love you and how much I loved Helen. I enjoyed spending time with her at her house. She was such a wonderful person to have been in my life. She touched my life in so many ways while I was growing up. I hope God will just reach down and hold you in his arms and give you the comfort you need to get you through this sorrow. He will help you, I know he will. For I have walked in the shoes in which you are now walking. He gives you strength that you never thought you would ever possess. He said he would be your mother, your father, your sister and your brother and he does not and will not lie. Just let me know how you are doing. I love you bub.
