“ Jamie was always good to me. My Daddy and her late husband were really good friends and I use to come over and play with the girls. Our favorite game was red rover and never passed up a chance to tell each other the stories of “Thump Thump Dragon”. I will also never forget the day I went to visit and their dog which was usually tied up was loose and me being me thought it would be friendly and of course it bit me, Jamie took me inside and nursed it and then let me lay down and I took a nap. She always had a way of making you feel better. She never was a stranger and through we both changed through the years we would always hug and catch up each time we saw each other. She loved to tell my girls stories about when I was little and she would always giggle her little laugh when she would tell them too. Fly high for you will be dearly missed on this earth but I know we will meet in Heaven again someday. Love Ashley Roberts and girls.
