“ J.D. and I shared many good memories, growing up.....our parents were very good friends. I would always , when I was at the Price's.....trying to play the mandolin, which I never did. I have a picture, when J,D, went with me to Grundy, in the summer of 1959. I had turned 18, and regiistered for the draft. He was a special person, very kind, and will be missed.
