“ I will miss you my dear Aunt. You were always there when I needed guidance in life's struggles and for that some choices I made you help me make. I know God need an angel I can see you dancing with the angels. Tell everyone in heaven we will meet again. I made piece the last call we talked about this and I know you knew how much I loved you. But I am at piece to know you want be in anymore physical pain or heartache from those who can not let go of the past. One thing you taught me was to let go of the irrational choices we all make because we were know it all kids. But can only be adults when we let go of the past. Stop holding grudges and seeking revenge. Because you tried so hard to forgive and forget. Because you were human and it's human nature to be a exploding bomb when continuously badgered and revoked God saw it all and he will have the last action. Love your niece Pamela Jean
