“ Joe was such a wonderful man and a great neighbor. Whenever or wherever you saw him he was always the same, smiling and he brightened your day. He loved his family with all his heart. My favorite memories of him are the days when we all were gathered at the bus stop. He would always be there in his truck reading or talking with Doug. We passed those days just talking about our neighbors and families. He could make anyone laugh. When Madison would come off that bus they both lit up when their eyes met and she would bounce to her papaw's truck. The love they shared plain on their faces.
