

Justin Blake Dye

July 8, 2003 - October 15, 2018

Justin Blake Dye, age 15, of Pounding Mill, VA passed away Monday, October 15, 2018 at his home.

Justin was born on July 8, 2003 in Abingdon, VA and was the son of Timothy W. Dye and Janet Osborne. He was well known for his sweet personality, always helping others, and for being kind and friendly. He was a sophomore at Richlands High School and was a lifelong resident of the area.

The word bullying doesn't begin to encompass the ugliness, suffering and pain it causes. No child or teenager should have to live with the pain and humiliation caused by the sharp cutting blade of someone's words. Justin's family are asking that parents talk to their children and find out answers to hard questions. Are they being bullied? Are they the bully? Have they witnessed bullying and walked away glad that it was not them being bullied? Have they joined in the laughter because they did not want others to bully them also? Parents, please teach your children that our words are our most powerful resource and we need to be careful how we use them. Our schools need to teach the children, the teachers, and principals and all who work there to open their eyes and put a stop to bullying. Justin's purpose and impact on this world is beyond what we can see or feel. He was a beautiful soul who no longer must suffer pain and rejection here on Earth. To those who were kind to Justin, Thank you. Your love and kindness meant the world to him. To Justin, thank you for coming into our lives. We are all much better for it. Fly high and carry our love forever. You will forever be missed.

My children are homeschooled and don't feel the effects of school bullies but today we made the pledge to not bullying and to help those that may be bullied. I'm sorry your family is going through this but I pray that this situation opens everyone's eyes. Good bless.

But, Justin what saddens me even more is that you took what courage and strength that you had left and ask for help, and help was not provided for you. I also pray the ones doing any bullying in our world are held accountable and removed from the schools in order for their victims to attend school without out being treated so horribly.

I'm praying for all of you 🙏

I'm so sorry I raised my grandson with Asperger's loving kind put up with name calling, eating alone, push him ,even went as far as throwing toilet paper over on him in the stall and pull his feet under the stall,he was bullied from 4th grade to his senior year,I think God he made it though this could of happened to him,these bullies have to have a stiff punsiment,in stead of a slap on the hand and Issac,put them in A Juvenile Facility for month, they love to be suspended so they don't not have to come back to school. They have know feelings what if it was their child what would they want done to these bullies.Schools wake up they see this thing going on and just shove it under the rug.God bless this family I'm so sorry know words can be said to make it better.God please help the children give them strength to push these bullies away.

“Dearest Dallon and Margaret, “Pork” and Melanie, and all of Justin’s family, This has to be one of the most moving tributes I’ve ever read. Justin was a very special young man and he had a smile that would light up the world. Thank you all for sharing this wonderful young man with us.

I am so sorry for the actions of those who hurt him.

Justin is soaring with the eagles and has his angel wings. He will always be there protecting you and his love will live on through his wonderful family.

You will be in my thoughts and prayers over the next few months. There will be a lot of “firsts” that you’ll have to endure, but with help from God, love of family and friends, and knowing how much Justin meant to everyone and the legacy he left behind, maybe the “firsts” will be a bit easier. He made his impact on this world and just imagine the impact he will have in Heaven! He was truly an angel on this earth!

I will miss his beautiful smile and bubbly personality. He has touched many hearts and I pray God touches the hearts of all that loved him and give them a comforting peace and understanding that surpasses all other.

May God bless and keep you in His tender loving care.

With love, hugs, and prayers,

Lynne
