“ 🙏💜😭 Dear mamaw,

I still cannot believe you are not here sharing your presence with me. It all happened so quickly, and it still breaks my heart knowing I have to accept the fact that you're gone.

You were one of my first role models, like another mom for me, and everything that I may do today, may it be a reflection of you.

You were a strong one back in your days, and you were also strong while fighting your last breath. I am a strong woman today because a strong woman was there for me.

Days pass and I always carry your memory with me. I look at pictures and I smile because I know you are now in a better place. All that I can do is talk about you and let your memory live on as I retell your amazing stories.

Grieving was not easy and I knew I couldn't make my life stop because I lost you. However, my world stopped when I heard the news that you were now in a new resting place.

I miss your smile, your presence across the dinner table, your sound advice, your laugh. I just miss you.

Holidays won't ever be the same anymore, you were the spirit that kept the season alive. But hopefully, when I look at the Christmas lights, it will remind me of a bright woman like you.

Every day does not get easier, it gets more manageable. There are days when I am happy knowing you are now dancing with the angels and other days when I cry knowing I can't ever see you on this earth.

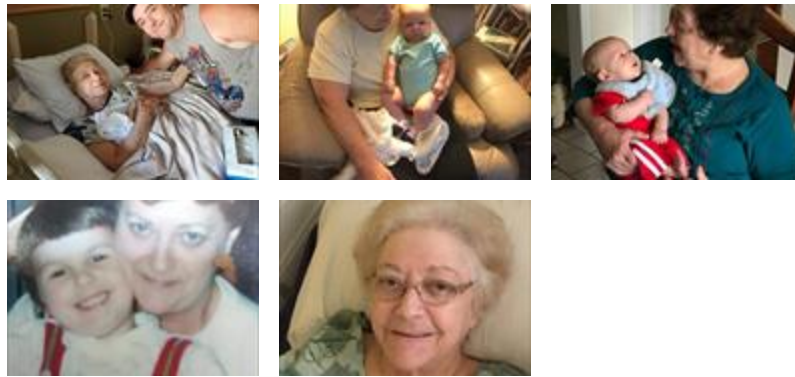

But one day, I will dance on the clouds with you and be able to receive one of your loving hugs. For the time being, I hope that you are watching me from Heaven and I pray that I make you proud. The family and I all miss you, but we know you deserve some rest after the great and exhausting life you lived.

I love you so much I dont know how I'm going to get through this tomorrow at your funeral but I will try my best to hold it together for you since I'm singing a song I dedicated to you.

Your granddaughter brittany. ❤️ (or pumpkin as you called me) 🥹💔

“ Linda was an amazing mother and an amazing wife and an amazing friend. Her faith in GOD inspired me. She was my 2nd Mother. I would love to see the smile on her face when GOD told her, "well done good and faithful servant. Enter in the joy of your LORD" Well done Linda. Well done. May GOD give Burgess, my precious 2nd Dad, peace and comfort and assurance to him and Brian and the family. Love you all
