There is a peice of you inside of me that will remain forever. Thank you for showing me what unconditional love is. “ Grandmother i love you soooo much! I know your in heaven with the lord! You always cherished the time you spent with the lord everyday. I know your okay and just want us to be civil down here. You were always a pure person. Always spoke what was on your mind and loved every one. I miss you so much right now. I wish i took more time away from my stupid busy scedule to call and show you more love. Your loss deaply saddens me but what brings me back is knowing you are at peace with the lord. I have soooo many memories of you dating back to when we lived in auburn. I remeber you gave me a bear that had a suite on that actually was a puppet. I use to love that bear mann. I remember going to visit you and uncle paul with my oldest sister for the summers as i grew older i could talk to you about any problem or sitation & you would help guide me in the right direction. I cant believe i'll never hear your sweet voice again. "Praise the lord this is madeline" you would always say while picking up the phone. I miss our long lenghty convos we would have. You never wanted to let me go. You were known for that grammy :). And now i cant stand the fact that you have past. I have a lot of memories and they will always remain in my heart forever. I will be coming to virginia to see you. Its been a long time. I wish i could have kept my promise to send you back to cali. I know how much you missed it. I would always tell you if i get rich or when i could save enough we would go out there. We never got the chance and im sorry. I know you probably dont care about that anyway. You would say im with lord, forget about cali im here at peace with the lord. The Lord has recieved an amazing, worthy angel. I learned a lot from you. And ill miss those black beans of yours. You where the best grandma a guy like me could ask for. Lets celebrate your life and remember if it wasnt for you, your great big family would not be here. You truely loved each and everyone of us dearly. I know your love was genuine & still is. Im proud of the time and love we shared. We are all lucky to have had a real loving grandmother, greatgrandmother,mother, sister,aunt etc. Like you grandma! Lets keep our memories stong as her faith and allow her to live forever through us. I love you FOREVER grandmother. Forever & always Your grandson: Eugenio Ojeda III

You will be sorely missed. ;(
