“ There was so many times mimi and I would talk about her final wishes, and her children made sure she got every last one of them. The only thing she asked of me was this poem, and I couldn't do it, I couldn't remember where I had put it up at and when I did find it I couldn't make myself say the words she asked me to say, I was selfish and I hope she forgives me for it. But this is a poem she wanted at one point in time spoken at her service.

“ My mimi. How I will always remember our talks, you throwing your lighter at me when you couldn't get them to light, your guidance, your stories, how much you loved all of us, how much Marshall Dylon adores you, theres so many memories to treasure. I know your chatting up Elvis, your parents and siblings. I love you big.
