“ Harry, Sylvia, Keith, Greg, and Johnny,

Jerry and I just learned about Pauline's passing when Mom called us last night. We truly wish we could be there with you to celebrate Pauline's life and to comfort you in your grief. I can not remember a time in my childhood that your Mom and Dad did not play an important roll in all our lives. We all grew up with a neighborhood of 'shared parents', not just our own. I remember Pauline's humor, kindness, and love of her family, esp. the grandchildren, which is what she so fondly talked to us about the last time Jerry and I saw her at Food City while grocery shopping. I do know that your Mom would not want any of you to look back on what you've lost but to honor all the sweet memories, cherish them and live your lives moving forward, into the promise of tomorrow, when once again we will see our loved ones in a better place, with no pain or sorrow. We share in your tears, all while thanking God for our parents, who made who we are today. All our Love.

Please accept our sincere sympathy. Our families were neighbors
