“ Peggy went home to be with the Lord,nearly two weeks ago,but she left behind memories that will outlast time for those of us who knew and loved her.In my earlier post,I mentioned taking trips.Our father worked for the N&W Railroad,and we had free passes to travel anywhere in the country we wanted to.Reminiscing about our travels,once Peggy sprained her ankle getting off the train,and I remember our mother clucking like a hen concerned about Peggy's injury! When Peggy was along on the trip,me and Rick,our younger brother behaved,as Peggy would've boxed our ears if we didn't! When she wasn't along,we misbehaved(i.e,running up and down the escalators in Grand Central Railroad Station,in New York City,going from coach to coach on the train,giggling,acting silly,upsetting the conductor,etc.)My sister isn't with us anymore,but her memory will live on.Rest in peace,Peggy,and whenever I see a train,I'll always remember our trips together ,seeing the world.Now you have a vantage point that we can only imagine the wondrous sights that you are beholding!

“Peggy was my older sister, and I looked up to her. There's an old photo of the two of us, standing by suitcases, ready to take a trip with our parents, other siblings, to Norfolk, Va., to visit our Aunt Mamie and Uncle Lee Baker that lived there. How it hurts to know she has gone on a trip that I can't go with her. I know we will meet again in Heaven, the home of the soul. Peggy, I hope you took the piece of my heart with you, that I gave to you, and I will be anticipating making my journey soon to be with you once again! Sister Patty.
