“ Please accept my deepest condolences. I understand this is a difficult time for family and friends. I am writing to you because 1Thess 4:13 states '..we do not want you to be ignorant concerning those who are sleeping [in death]; that you may not sorrow just as the rest who have no hope'. God offers us a hope in the bible at Acts 24:15 which tells us ' and I have hope toward God, which hope these [men] themselves also entertain, that there is going to be a resurrection of both the righteous and unrighteous.' This resurrection gives me hope that I will be reunited with my dead loved ones again. He also promises us that one day death will be no more. It is found for us at Isaiah 33:24 and states '...he will actually swallow up death forever'. I honestly hope you review these scriptures in your own copy of the bible. We can find comfort in them because Titus 1:2 tells us that '...God can not lie.' May these words bring you comfort and hope.
