“ Stanley was already an angel. One of the kindest, most loving people I ever knew. Now he has his wings!! He has his eternal reward!!

So many stories I will never forget. Here's one of the best. After Stanley had taught my wife, Charlotte, how to play slap style on the upright bass, he decided she need a good bass--a "Genuine Kay," was what he said. He set about to find one, and found the Blonde Kay she still plays in Kingsport, Tenn. He went with us to go get it, because he wanted to check it out first. Since he knew where he was going, I let him drive my truck. I fell asleep in the back. When I woke up I saw a road sign that said we were 45 miles out of Knoxville. Stanley and Charlotte were just a'talking away up front!! I leaned over to the front and said where do y'all think you are going--Nashville?? Stanley turned us around and we went back to Kingsport and ended up buying that bass. We laughed about it then and every time we remembered that day in the many years that followed.

*Rest in peace my good friend.

“ We are very saddened to hear about Stanley. We send our deepest sympathy to Denise, his daughter and all the family. We have wonderful memories of Stanley. I met him when he answered an ad I had placed for bass lessons. I probably would have never been a slap bassist if not for Stanley. He provided me with the means of enjoying and being a part of the bluegrass music for the past 20 years now. He became a true friend to all of us. He was an amazing musician and an amazing person. We will miss him. Our thoughts and prayers are with you all,
